

Notes on Contributors

Andrea Roxana Bellot is a post-doctoral researcher in the Department of English and German Studies, University Rovira i Virgili (URV), Tarragona, Spain. She holds a BA in English Philology by the University of Barcelona, and she earned her PhD at URV in 2014. Her teaching and research interests fall into the areas of language and literature teaching, and the literary and cultural representations of war.

ORCID ID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0002-0561-2132>

Contact details: Universitat Rovira i Virgili, Estudis Anglesos i Alemanys, Faculty of Letters. Avinguda Catalunya, 35. (43002) Tarragona, SPAIN (andrearoxana.bellot@urv.cat)

Joe Geluso, PhD, is Assistant Professor of English at Nihon University College of Law in Tokyo, Japan. His research interests include corpus linguistics, phraseology, second language acquisition, and research methods in applied linguistics. Joe has taught English and conducted research in the United States, Mexico, and Japan. His previous publications have appeared in journals including Computer Assisted Language Learning, ReCALL, and Register Studies.

ORCID ID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0002-7496-481X>

Contact details: Nihon University College of Law, 2 Chome-3-1 Misakicho, Chiyoda City, Tokyo 101-8375 Japan (joe.geluso@nihon-u.ac.jp)

Tú Anh Hà is currently an MA student in an Erasmus Mundus Joint Master Degree in Play and Education, Toys and Languages at the University of Cordoba, Spain. Before taking part in the course, she was an English teacher at FPT Primary and Secondary School, FPT Education Vietnam. She completed her Master Degree in Learning and Teaching English as a second language at University Rovira i Virgili in Catalonia, Spain. Her research focuses on CLIL, project-based learning, intercultural education, play and toys for early childhood education and teacher training.

ORCID ID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0002-6450-3390>

Contact details: Faculty of Education, University of Córdoba, Avda. San Alberto Magno Córdoba, Spain (tuanh.ling@gmail.com)

Hira Hanif is a visiting lecturer at King's College London where she teaches English for Academic Purposes. She is also an ESL instructor at Princess Noura University, Saudi Arabia. She completed her MA in Education and TESOL from Oxford Brookes University, UK, and is currently pursuing her PhD from the University of Reading, UK. Her research interests include corrective feedback, professional learning and language teacher beliefs and identity.

ORCID ID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0003-2333-8787>

Contact details: Princess Noura University, Airport Road, King Khalid International Airport, Riyadh 11564, Saudi Arabia (hhanif@pnu.edu.sa)

Nadia Idri, PhD, is Senior Lecturer at the Department of English, Bejaia University, Algeria, and she chairs a research team in LESMS lab called EMICOB. She is a major in applied linguistics and ELT, and a minor in educational psychology. Her expertise covers such areas as affective factors, applied linguistics, learner autonomy, basic and higher education, technology education and LMD Reform. She has much interest in research methodology in the humanities. She has published nationally and internationally and she has also participated in many national and international conferences

ORCID ID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0001-6245-1884>

Contact details: University of Bejaia, Faculty of Arts and Languages, Route de Tichy, Abodaou, Bejaia, Algeria (nadia.ahouari@univ-bejaia.dz)

Rima Outmoune is a secondary school EFL teacher in Algeria since 2012. She received her teacher certification for secondary education from Ecole Normale Supérieure d'Enseignement – Constantine in 2012, and her MA from Bejaia University, Algeria, in 2016. She is interested in applied linguistics and ELT. Her research article "Investigating ICT sources, perception and usage by Algerian EFL teachers" in collaboration with Dr. Idri earned them the first prize in the third edition of the Academic and Creative Writing Competitions held at Bejaia University in 2017.

ORCID ID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0002-3270-9052>

Contact details: Hocine Ait Ahmed Secondary School, Beni Ourtilane, Setif, Algeria (rimaoutmoune@protonmail.com)

Alicja Wujec-Kaczmarek is an experienced teacher of English in secondary schools in Opole, Poland, an educational consultant in the Municipal In-service

Teacher Training Center in Opole, Poland, and a PhD student at Adam Mickiewicz University, Poznań, Poland. Her main interests in the field of education are teaching foreign languages and the management of international projects at the secondary, tertiary, and university levels. Alicja Wujec-Kaczmarek has published articles promoting the use of ICT in the EFL classroom in The Teacher, Modelowe Nauczanie, and Humanising Language Teaching Magazine and has coordinated numerous Comenius and Erasmus+ projects, such as Comenius World Wide Walls with secondary schools in France, Sweden, and Italy, Comenius Regio Tabula Alba on Interactive Whiteboards with Turkey, and TOOLS (Technologically enhanced online opportunities for language learning in inclusive mainstream education) in cooperation with University of Opole, Vic University in Spain, Zentrum für Schulpraktische Lehrerausbildung Münster (ZFL), and Zentrum für Lehrerbildung der Universität Münster in Germany, as well as many others.

ORCID ID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0003-1710-4247>

Contact details: Municipal Center for Supporting Education in Opole, Poland, ul. Powstańców Śląskich 1945-086 Opole, Poland (a.wujec-kaczmarek@mcwe.opole.pl)