

Notes on Contributors

Marzieh Bagherkazemi, PhD, is Assistant Professor of applied linguistics at Islamic Azad University (South Tehran Branch), Iran. Her research interests include discourse analysis, interlanguage pragmatics, English as a Lingua Franca, and language learning epistemology. Marzieh has run MA and PhD courses in discourse analysis, second language acquisition research, language teaching theories, psycholinguistics, culture and identity in language teaching, and research methods in applied linguistics. She has also authored several national and international articles.

ORCID ID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0001-9621-11421>

Contact details: Department of English Language Teaching, Faculty of Persian Literature and Foreign Languages, Valieasr Complex, Enghelab Street, Tehran, Iran (m_bagherkazemi@azad.ac.ir).

Brahim Ait Hammou is an ELT supervisor at the Ministry of Education. He holds a Master's Degree in applied linguistics and ELT from the School of Education, Mohamed 5 University, Rabat, Morocco. He is currently a PhD candidate in Applied Linguistics and the Teaching of Language program at the School of Arts and Humanities, Moulay Ismail University in Meknes, Morocco.

ORCID ID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0001-9977-5209>

Contact details: School of Arts and Humanities, Moulay Ismail University, Meknes (50070), Morocco (hammou76@gmail.com).

Helga Dorner is Associate Professor and Director at the Institute of Research on Adult Education and Knowledge Management at the Faculty of Education and Psychology of Eötvös Loránd University (ELTE), Budapest, Hungary. She is also Fellow of the Higher Education Academy. She researches teaching innovations, academic professionalism and mentoring for teaching in higher education.

ORCID ID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0002-9648-9992>

Contact details: Eötvös Loránd University, Doctoral School of Educational Science, Egyetem square 1-3, Budapest, Hungary (dorner.helga@ppk.elte.hu).

Mustapha Fagroud is Professor of Applied Statistics at the National School of Agriculture. He holds a PhD in geostatistics. He currently supervises PhD students and teaches a course in Statistics at the School of Arts and Humanities, Moulay Ismail University, Morocco.

ORCID ID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0002-8084-8532>

Contact details: National School of Agriculture, Moulay Ismail University, Meknes (50070), Morocco (mfagroud@hotmail.com).

Mohammed Larouz holds a PhD in applied Linguistics from the University of Sidi Mohamed Ben Abdallah. Currently, he is the Dean the School of Arts and Humanities in Moulay Ismail University, Meknes, Morocco. He is also Director of the PhD program in applied linguistics at the same school.

ORCID ID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0003-2017-8976>

Contact details: School of Arts and Humanities, Moulay Ismail University, Meknes (50070), Morocco (m.larouz@fsh.umi.ac.ma).

Aysegül Nergis holds a PhD in English language teaching. She is currently an instructor in Istanbul University. She has published on reading in EAP and effects of vocabulary instruction on oral fluency. Her current research interests are speaking in EAP and spoken academic discourse.

ORCID ID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0002-0498-2705>

Contact details: Istanbul University, School of Languages, Kirazlı Mescit sk 31, Fatih, Istanbul, Turkey (aysegulnergis@gmail.com).

Xavier Martin-Rubió, PhD, is a full-time lecturer at the Department of English and Linguistics at University of Lleida, Spain. His research interests include the relationship between language use/learning and national allegiance; fluency and accuracy analysis in second language acquisition; the teaching of content in English in Catalonia in secondary and tertiary education.

ORCID ID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0002-9643-9530>

Contact details: Universitat de Lleida, Office 2.20, Plaça Víctor Siurana, 1, 25003 Lleida, Spain (xavier.martinrubio@udl.cat).

Irati Diert-Boté, PhD, is Adjunct Lecturer at the Department of English and Linguistics at the University of Lleida, Spain. Her research interests are English language learners' beliefs and emotions, teacher-student relationships and classroom atmosphere in different English language learning contexts (such as English as a foreign language, English for specific purposes, and English medium instruction) from a qualitative perspective.

ORCID ID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0002-6964-5996>

Contact details: Universitat de Lleida, Office 1.05, Plaça Víctor Siurana, 1, 25003 Lleida, Spain (irati.diert@udl.cat).

Emese Schiller is a PhD candidate at Eötvös Loránd University, Budapest, Hungary, attending the Doctoral School of Education. Her dissertation focuses on the topic of one-to-one counselling for autonomous learning. Besides that, she works as a foreign language teacher working with senior language learners.

ORCID ID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0002-1875-4842>

Contact details: Eötvös Loránd University, Doctoral School of Educational Science, Egyetem square 1-3, Budapest, Hungary (sche.emese@gmail.com).

Maedeh Shadmehr is a PhD candidate of applied linguistics at Islamic Azad University (South Tehran Branch), Iran. Her research interests include discourse analysis, computer-assisted language learning, and English as a Lingua Franca. She has authored some articles, and translated a book. She is currently teaching English at private language institutions in Iran.

ORCID ID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0003-0449-6544>

Contact details: Department of English Language Teaching, Faculty of Persian Literature and Foreign languages, Valieasr complex, Enghelab Street, Tehran, Iran (maedehshadmehr@gmail.com).

Fatemeh Sokhanvar is a PhD candidate of applied linguistics at Islamic Azad University (South Tehran Branch), Iran. Her research interests include computer-assisted language learning, discourse analysis, and authentic assessment. She has authored some articles, and a book on mobile-assisted language learning. She is currently teaching English at high school in Iran.

ORCID ID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0003-0767-4043>

Contact details: Department of English Language Teaching, Faculty of Persian Literature and Foreign languages, Valieasr complex, Enghelab Street, Tehran, Iran (sokhanvar_fatemeh@yahoo.com).