

Notes on Contributors

Barak Avirbach is Lecturer at the Hebrew Language Department (BA Studies) and the Advanced Studies Department (MEd studies) at Oranim College and at the Hebrew Language department (BEd studies) at Tel-Hai College, Israel. He completed his PhD in Medieval Hebrew and Judeo-Arabic in the Hebrew language department at the University of Haifa under the supervision of Professors Matthew Morgenstern and Tamar Zewi. He also holds an MA in Hebrew language from the University of Haifa. His research interests include medieval Arabicized Hebrew, Judeo-Arabic, philology, and comparative linguistics. Dr. Avirbach also focuses on the language-literature interface from both theoretical and pedagogical aspects.

ORCID ID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0001-5712-108X>

Contact details: Oranim College of Education, Kiryat Tiv'on, Israel (barak.orianim@gmail.com)

Driss Benattabou, Department of English, Faculty of Arts and Humanities, Meknes, Morocco. He holds a PhD from Moulay Ismail University, Meknes, Morocco. He has published a number of articles in such research areas as applied linguistics, gender in education, critical discourse analysis and visual semiotics.

ORCID ID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0003-4240-1390>

Contact details: English Department, Moulay Ismail University, Post Office Box No 11201, Hay Zitoune, Meknes, Meknes, Morocco (d.benattabou@umi.ac.ma)

Abdelouahed Bouih, PhD, Department of English, Moulay Ismail University, Meknes, Morocco. He has published a number of articles in such research areas as applied linguistics, gender studies and educational psychology.

ORCID ID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0002-2197-9479>

Contact details: English Department, Moulay Ismail University, Post Office Box No 11201, Hay Zitoune, Meknes, Morocco (abdelouahed.bouih@gmail.com)

Deborah Dubiner (PhD in Second Language Acquisition, Carnegie Mellon University) is a lecturer at Oranim College of Education in Israel. Her teaching load is distributed in the graduate, undergraduate, in-service, and pre-service language teaching programs. Her sociolinguistics research focuses on multilingualism and identity, as well as on varied topics in language and society. She carries out research also in second language learning/teaching and teacher education. Before pursuing an applied linguistics career, Dr. Dubiner taught foreign languages for over 25 years in three continents.

ORCID ID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0001-7231-2896>

Contact details: Oranim College of Education, Kiryat Tiv'on, Izrael (dvora_d@oranim.ac.il)

Meryem KARLIK is Head of International Cooperation Department at Tashkent State Transport University, Uzbekistan. She completed her PhD in applied linguistics at the International Burch University, Bosnia and Herzegovina. She also holds an MA in English Language and Teaching at Konya Necmettin Erbakan University, Türkiye. Her research interests include English Language Teaching, cultures of the target languages, and computer networks. Her publications have appeared in various journals including International Journal of Language and Linguistics, International Journal of Artificial Intelligence and Expert Systems (IJAE), International Journal of Language, Linguistics, Literature and Culture and Canadian Journal of Language and Literature Studies. Her book includes Artificial Neural Networks Methodology for Second Language Learning, LAP Lambert Academic Publishing, Germany (2017).

ORCID ID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0002-6891-8761>

Contact details: Tashkent State Transport University, 1, Temiryolchilar Street, Tashkent, Uzbekistan, 100167 (drmeryemk@gmail.com)

Bendaoud Nadif, PhD, Department of English, Moulay Ismail University, Meknes, Morocco. He is a high school professor of English. He has published articles in such research areas as applied linguistics, critical discourse analysis, gender studies, and language learning.

ORCID ID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0001-6278-1808>

Contact details: English Department, Moulay Ismail University, Post Office Box No 11201, Hay Zitoune, Meknes, Morocco (bendaoudnadif@gmail.com)

Jeanne Rolin-lanziti is Honorary Senior Research Fellow in the School of Languages and Cultures, the University of Queensland, Brisbane, Australia. She completed her PhD in Romances Languages at the University of North Carolina, Chapel

Hill, USA. She also holds a Maitrise de Lettres Modernes (Master in French Studies) from the University of Nice, France. She has taught French language courses at tertiary level in academic positions in the USA (at the University of Colorado and at the University of North Carolina), and in Australia (at the University of Wollongong and at the University of Queensland). Her research interests focus on second language classroom practices, using a conversation analysis framework as her research method. Within this framework, she has investigated code switching to the students' first language, corrective strategies, and the implementation of the task-based language teaching approach. Her publications have appeared in the following journals: The Canadian Modern Language Review, The Language Learning Journal, Language Teaching Research, The Journal of the Australasian Universities Language and Literature Association, The Australian Review of Applied Linguistics, Lingua e Stile, and Le Français dans le monde. She has published a textbook Et à votre avis? (USA: Holt, Rinehart and Winston, 1991) aimed at developing L2 French students' listening comprehension.

ORCID ID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0001-5205-4818>

Contact details: School of Languages and Cultures, The University of Queensland, Saint Lucia, QLD, Australia (j.rolinanziti@uq.edu.au)